Washington, April 2 (AP)—Asserting that America must halt its "drunken spending spree" or go broke, Senator Martin (R-Pa.) today urged a cut in European recovery funds.

He told the Senate in a 6,000-word speech—his longest in that body—that he favors aiding Europe and is sure most Americans feel the same way.

But, he added, he is certain the program of the economic cooperation administration (ECA) can be accomplished at less cost. He did not propose a specific cut.

But, he said, "there is nothing sacred" about the $5,580,000,000 which has been proposed as necessary to finance the program during the next 15 months.

Economy, Lower Taxes

He said he was convinced that "a reasonable amount" could be cut from the figure "without impairing the effectiveness or the progress of European recovery."

The former Pennsylvania Governor recalled that "I have been criticized many times because I have constantly preached economy in government and lower taxes."

But, he said, he will continue to preach economy because "with this (financial) crisis before us, it is the only program that will insure a future of freedom and opportunity."

America, he said, cannot spend the same money twice. If it spends to assist Europe, he said, it must cut down on spending at home.

"At a time when the American people are burdened with a national debt of almost $252,000,000,000, we are not justified in regard-

MUSIC FESTIVAL WELL ATTENDED FRIDAY NIGHT

Over 1000 were present Friday evening at the Eddie Plank Memorial gymnasium at Gettysburg college for the annual school music festival arranged by the music teachers of the county's public schools.

The number included approximately 700 spectators, 140 high school students who made up the combined band for the affair and 240 students who made up the senior and junior high school choruses. All of the high schools in the county were represented.

The program, third to be held at the college, was under direction of a committee headed by Harold Sanders, Biglerville, president of the county music teachers. During the program Friday Sanders thanked the college for the use of the gymnasium and other college facilities.

Plan Spring Festival

Friday night's concert marked a climax of a day of activities by the various choruses and the band. Throughout the day the groups from the various schools practiced together at the college for the concert in the evening.

Music teachers in charge announced plans for a "bigger and better" music festival next spring after announcing that Friday night's affair was "the best held so far." The music festivals began in 1935, but were not held each year until the present type of program was adopted three years ago and the college gymnasium was selected as the place for the program to be given.

LOCAL TNT CASE IS DISMISSED BY LOCAL JUSTICE

A charge, filed by Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster, against Frederick Strickhouser, West Gettysburg inn, of failing to make a report to the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry on the possession of explosives, was dismissed this morning by Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore, on the recommendation of District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter. It was not revealed who paid the costs in the case.

Strickhouser formerly resided at 57 East Stevens street. A quantity of TNT was found under a cellar stairway at this address after Strickhouser had moved on March 9. It was revealed today that more of the same explosive had since been found in a neighbor's yard.

The district attorney said his recommendation for dismissal of the charge was based on the ground of apparent difficulty in proving conclusively that the defendant had definite knowledge of the presence of the TNT at his home.

Teeter Conducts Probe

Teeter said he had personally conducted an investigation and had found that "Strickhouser had nothing to do with either obtaining or retaining the explosive."

It has never been determined where the TNT came from, Teeter said. It will be transferred to a federal reservation, and later destroyed, he added.

"This case and others of similar nature should be sufficient indication to persons storing explosives to comply with the rules and regulations of the Department of Labor and Industry," the district attorney said. "There has been enough public notice to acquaint everyone that there are such rules. If a person is found knowingly in possession of explosives without a storage permit, it can be expected that an investigation will be made and provisions of the law invoked against them."

Woman Injured By County Motorist

Mrs. Anna E. Wege, 65, Hanover, was under treatment Friday at the Hanover hospital for injuries received when struck by an automobile on Baltimore street, Hanover, near the Parkville Fire company engine house, about 11 o'clock Thursday night.

An examination at the hospital revealed that Mrs. Wege's injuries included abrasions of the scalp and a fracture of a small bone in her left leg.

According to York state police, Mrs. Wege was walking ahead of a group of friends as they started to cross the thoroughfare from the west to east side after leaving the engine house where they attended a card party earlier in the evening.

Mrs. Wege, state police said, was struck by an automobile operated by Paul Bowers, Littlestown. The motorist, police reported, stopped at the scene, identified himself and waited until the injured woman received attention before leaving for his home.

Training Session Held For Reserves

The great increase in the "firepower" of an infantry company under its new table of organization was outlined Friday night by Capt. Donald Sheely at a training session of Co. E, 315th Infantry, a local Army Reserve unit held in the Albert J. Lentz post American Legion home on Baltimore street.

The number of men in a company has been increased to 205 while the number of officers remains at six. The company is armed with three 57-millimeter recoilless guns, 37 carbines, three machine guns, three "bazookas," 33 pistols, nine automatic rifles, 132 .30 caliber Garand rifles, nine sniper rifles, and nine .60 millimeter mortars, among other weapons, he pointed out.

Battlefield Hotel, Local Landmark For Half A Century, Being Razed; Designed By Pastor

The Battlefield hotel, a local landmark for more than half a century, and believed by many to be the only hotel designed by a clergyman, will soon be only a memory. Workmen are tearing down the structure and within a month the old building will have been razed to make room for a macadam driveway to a new service station.

The big red brick hotel which dominated the intersection of Baltimore street and Steinwehr avenue for many years was built by Mrs. Elise Braunreuter. The plans were drawn by Rev. Ege, an Episcopal minister who was a friend of the Braunreuter family.

In a way the Battlefield hotel came into existence because Mrs. Braunreuter did not like the Globe hotel, which later was to become the Hoffman hotel and finally the present Sherman apartments on York street.

Owned Globe First

Adam Braunreuter, his wife Elise, and four children came from Germany and settled in Baltimore. Their friends in this section, the Ramers, Codoris and Reddings, suggested that Mr. Braunreuter go into the hotel business here and Mr. Braunreuter came to Gettysburg, according to the story told by Mrs. Braunreuter to her daughter, Mrs. Clara Wilson, who lives at 3 Chambersburg street.

Mr. Braunreuter came to Gettysburg about 1892, leaving his family in Baltimore, and purchased the Globe hotel. He installed a new bar and made other changes. When he brought his family here Mrs. Braunreuter was not happy. The hotel was sold and the family returned to Baltimore.

But Gettysburg had won the affections of Mr. Braunreuter and he decided to return and purchase some other hotel. He eventually acquired a small tavern located at the intersection of York and Chambersburg streets. (Please Turn to Page 7)

Warn Growers Against Frost This Evening

Harrisburg, April 2 (AP)—The U.S. Weather bureau today warned fruit growers to guard against frost tonight.

Temperatures throughout Pennsylvania will plummet to below freezing by tomorrow morning, the observer said, running about two degrees lower than last night.

Recent mild weather brought out blossoms on many fruit trees, opening them to frost danger.

Last night's rain, sleet and snow hit practically all of the state. Two Points—Tannack in Clinton county and Park Place in Schuylkill county—had four to five inches of snow in a freakish development, the Weather bureau reported.

Temperatures ranged from a low of 20 at Curwensville to about 34 at Harrisburg and Philadelphia last night.

LIBRARY GIVEN 1ST DONATION TO BUILDING FUND

Announcement was made Friday evening at the April meeting of the board of director of the Adams County Free Library association of the first special gift to the organization's building fund.

Mrs. E. S. Lewars, president of the board, said an anonymous friend of the library has given $100 to the building fund which has been started by the library some time ago with the $25 life memberships the library has received.

No building fund campaign has been launched but until late last month the library had made plans for an appeal for funds with which to pay for and equip the former county jail property. Library plans now for the jail are uncertain with a public auction of the property set for next Wednesday.

Made 13,647 Loans In Month

The question of acquiring the jail came up for discussion at the board meeting Friday evening but there was no announcement of any library plans in connection with the approaching auction. The library had previously submitted a bid of $9,000 for the property.

Miss Anna Farran, county librarian, submitted her monthly report showing a circulation of 13,647 volumes in March with not all branch reports reported for tabulation before the meeting. School stations served by the bookmobile accounted for 11,780 of the loans. The report also showed a steadily climbing volume of loans through the main library here. The total was 1,523 last month or an average of more than 50 books loaned every day. The bookmobile traveled 410 (Please Turn to Page 2)

State Police Called To Investigate Three Mishaps In Three Hours

State police of the Gettysburg substitution were called to investigate three accidents, all within three hours, Friday afternoon and evening, and a fourth accident this morning.

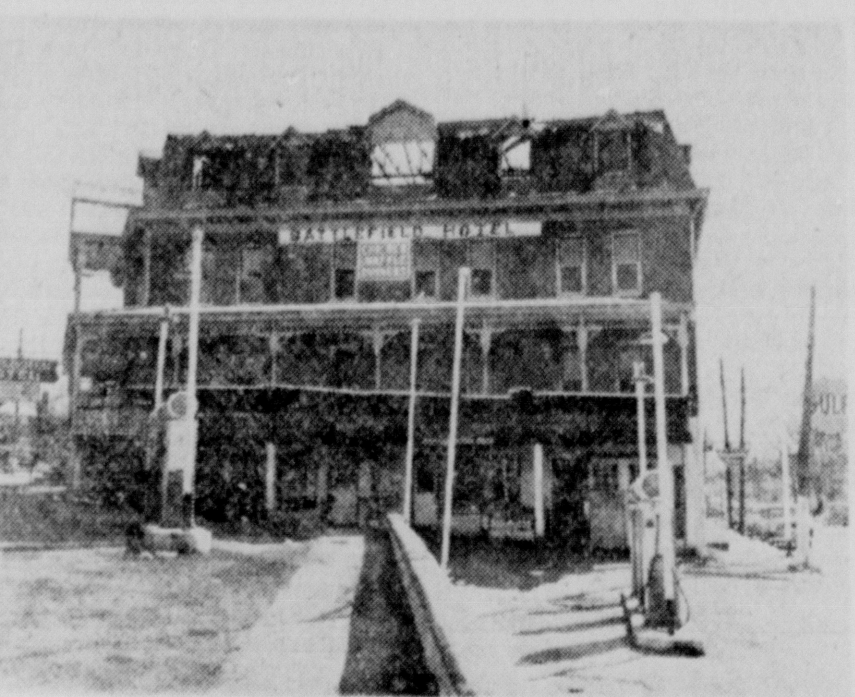

Automobiles operated by Charles F. Klinger, 26, of Sunbury R. 2, and Mrs. Edna M. Shanefelter, 40, of Littlestown R. 2, collided at the "Y" intersection of Legislative routes 01013 and 01032, a mile north of Littlestown, at 4:15 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Shanefelter was driving north toward White Hall, and the other car was going south, police said. Mrs. Shanefelter was treated by Dr. D. B. Coover, Littlestown, for multiple abrasions and lacerations. Damage to each car was estimated at $400.

The automobiles of Raymond Rodgers, 20, of 598 Spring street, Hanover and James A. Conley, 27, of 313 Spring street, Hanover, figured in a collision on Lincolnway west two blocks from the square in Abbots-town at 5:15 o'clock.

State police said Rodgers drove to the center of the road, and Conley attempted to pass on the right, believing that Rodgers was about to make a left turn. Instead, police said, Rodgers turned right. No one was injured. Damage to the Rodgers car was estimated at $25 and to the Conley car at $150.

MAY BRING 20 UKRAINIANS TO ADAMS COUNTY

An unestimated number of Ukrainians now in displaced persons camps in Germany will find new homes, new jobs and new opportunities in Adams county, as the result of a meeting held at the court house Friday night. Dr. Walter Gallan, executive director of the United Ukrainian American Relief Committee, Inc., Philadelphia, was the principal speaker.

Jay W. Bishop, of near New Chester, who has been employing since February, the first Ukrainian displaced person to come to Adams county, and who was named chairman of an Adams county Ukrainian committee, announced that more than 20 applications to bring Ukrainians here have been signed in the past few days, several of them at the meeting Friday night. Named on the committee with Mr. Bishop were Attorney Richard A. Brown, Gettysburg, and Mrs. H. B. Flaherty, New Oxford.

205,000 Available

Dr. Gallan explained that a law passed by Congress in June, 1948, permits the admission to the United States of 205,000 persons from displaced persons camps in Germany, Austria and Italy. The number is in addition to the regular immigration quotas, he said. Seven relief agencies, of which the United Ukrainian American is one, are authorized to handle this special immigration, through a three-man commission in Washington, he added.

"There are 800,000 now in displaced persons camps, mostly in the American zone, in Germany and Austria," Dr. Gallan said. "If we need a particular person, he must have a sponsor in the United States. He must have the assurance of a home and a job before he is permitted to leave Europe. His sponsor must agree to pay him the prevailing rate of wages."

All Are "Screened"

"Applications are screened through our relief headquarters in Philadelphia and then go to Washington for approval. If approved, they are sent to Germany. If you ask for a single man, our office in Germany must send you a single man. If you ask for a family, they must send you a family. Then they are 'screened' and issued visas. Their expenses to the United States are paid by the international relief organization. When they get to this country, we see that they reach their proper destinations."

"The Ukrainian American Relief committee specializes in farmers, because Ukraine is essentially a farming land, and Ukrainian farmers are the best in Europe," Dr. Gallan said, "but we can supply household help and many kinds of skilled workers. You can find almost any occupation you want."

Dr. Gallan said that more than 700 Ukrainian farmers have already been placed in Maryland, representing 210 family groups, and that the committee is now placing them in Virginia.

Language No Problem

"If you need help, you will find that Ukrainians are very helpful," he declared. "They are industrious and make good citizens. Many speak English. They have been learning it in the displaced persons camps. Language has been no problem in Maryland. But if a Ukrainian is not satisfactory, you are under no obligation to keep him. He will be replaced and we will take him back and find another place for him. This is a free country, and Ukrainians coming here are free men and women. They may quit the job if they don't like it, or you may fire them if they are not satisfactory. There is no legal obligation to keep them."

Dr. Gallan said applicants may specify not only occupation, but age limits, in their applications. It will take from two to three months from the time the application is filed until the Ukrainian reaches Adams county, he said.

Fight Communism

England has taken 30,000 Ukrainians, and Canada 10,000. Dr. Gallan revealed. Their religious beliefs are about equally divided between Greek Catholic and Protestant.

The Ukrainian-American movement received a boost from Frank (Please Turn to Page 2)

DEED IS FILED FOR TRANSFER OF LOCAL FIRM

The deed to the property of the Adams County Cold Storage turning it over to the C. H. Musselman company, of Biglerville, was filed Friday afternoon at the office of the Adams County Register and Recorder. The deed states that the consideration was $1 and other considerations. Stamps affixed to the deed show the sale price to have been approximately $125,000. The property includes the structures and land here and the 142-acre farm owned by the cold storage company in Franklin township.

The paper was one of a number of deeds filed with the register and recorder Friday, marking the usual influx of property transfers on that date. However, court house officials pointed out that the traditional April 1 deadline for property transfers seems to have almost disappeared. The number of deeds recorded were larger than usual but fewer in comparison with the rush that occurred in years gone by.

Other Transfers

Other property transfers included: J. Francis and Vivian S. Yake, McSherrystown, sold to Clarence J. and Kathryn M. Speicher, Hershey, a property on the west side of Steinwehr avenue.

George E. and Minnie Spahr, Paradise township, sold to Samuel J. and Evelyn T. Spiese, Reading township, a 135 acre property in Reading township.

GERMAN WOMAN WRITES THANKS FOR CLOTHING

That articles being sent by Adams countians to needy persons overseas are going to those who have the greatest need for them is indicated by a letter received by Mrs. A. C. Keefer, McKnightstown, from a German woman.

In translation from the German, the letter states: "Dear Mrs. Keefer, Quite unknown to you I am writing you this letter. I received a coat for my mother through the Protestant Relief and found your address in the pocket of the coat. I am happy that I am thus able to express to you our thanks, personally. We had never hoped ever to own such a beautiful warm coat again.

"We express our heartfelt thanks for it. The coat fits very well except for a few small details which I shall alter. You cannot imagine our joy, what it means, when one has literally lost everything except what one has on, and now again to own such a beautiful article.

"Life Is Very Difficult"

"We had to leave our home in the autumn of 1944 and then came from one place to another until we landed in Denmark in the spring of 1945. I had managed to take a few things as far as Denmark, but there I lost the last of them. With my two children I had nothing. My mother was kept in Königsberg several months before she also came to Denmark.

"In November, 1948, we got out of the barbed wire back to Germany. We are now free people indeed, but life is very difficult when one has nothing at all. But we will trust in God. He will help us further.

"My children in the meantime have grown. The boy is already 13 and the girl seven. Life goes on in spite of all suffering and difficulty. Now I thank you once more very heartily for the beautiful coat. Likewise my mother thanks you. Heartiest greetings, Erna Mading, mother and children."

The letter was sent from Herberlingen, Germany.

Mrs. Keefer's donation was part of a shipment sent by Flohr's Lutheran church.

12 NATIONS TO MAKE PLANS FOR ANTI-RED WAR

Washington, April 2 (AP)—Foreign ministers of all 12 Atlantic Pact powers were called into their first huddle today to start drawing up grand strategy machinery for the non-Communist Western world.

The officials were first expected to make a formal check of the treaty which was completed here early this month, then informally talk over the kind of agencies which will be needed to carry out the aims of the Alliance.

Two strategy groups are specified in the Pact itself: A consultative council and a defense committee. All 12 member nations presumably will be represented on each of these bodies.

The council, according to the treaty, must be so organized that it can meet on short notice to deal with any emergency. It is the body which would be summoned into hasty session, for example, if one of the members of the Alliance should be attacked.

Pool Resources

The defense committee presumably will get the task of drawing up detailed plans for (A) rearming the Atlantic nations—mainly through a proposed American aid program—and (B) defending the Atlantic region in case of attack.

British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin declared yesterday that the treaty would mean a "pooling" of manpower, armaments, and other resources among the member nations.

It also may bring about eventually a settlement of the problem of bases in such strategic Atlantic islands as Greenland, Iceland and the Azores.

Diplomatic informants said no decisions could be reached on problems of organization today, and probably none could be expected until after the treaty comes into force.

That is at least several weeks—perhaps months—off, because the United States cannot ratify the Pact until it is approved by two-thirds vote of the Senate, after committee hearings.

Today's meeting was to be held in the government's departmental auditorium on historic Constitution avenue, about three blocks from the White House. The Pact will be signed in the same auditorium Monday afternoon.

Belief In America Pays Off At Funeral Of Hero

Philadelphia, April 2 (AP)—Joseph A. Verna was a guy who believed in America.

And he wasn't too busy to try and explain America to his friends.

One of them was a boy whom Joe and his brother, Carl, met when they were studying in Italy in 1934.

The Italian, Victor Rollo, had his beliefs too—Fascism, Mussolini, a new Italy built on might.

Rollo wrote Joe about the new Italy. Joe's replies told about what a Democracy is and how it makes you feel if you think something threatens your liberty.

World War II began. Rollo was inducted into the Italian army. The correspondence stopped at Pearl Harbor when Joe became a U. S. Army photographer. Later he went to the European theater and was on hand to photograph the attempted assassination of Gen. Charles

MAY BRING 20

P. Parrish, large-scale Taneytown dairyman and farmer, who visited Ukrainians in displaced persons camps in Europe last year to gain first-hand knowledge of them.

"They have the spirit that made the United States what it is today," he said. "They are going to do us more good than we will do them. A few hundred of them scattered through the United States will do more to fight Communism than almost anything else. Their own experiences are much more effective than anything you can read about Communism," he said.

Seek New Chance

Mr. Parrish said that he saw no signs of deterioration among the Ukrainians in the displaced persons camps, in spite of two invasions, loss of homes, poor food and forced labor.

"I talked to hundreds of them who wanted to come to the United States," he said. "They did not ask the pay or the hours of work; they wanted new homes and a chance at a new and better life.

"In Maryland, we're delighted, and they're delighted," he said. "Language has not been a barrier. They know their work. If you pick up a pitchfork, they'll take it away from you. They know what to do with it."

Mr. Parrish said that the problem in Maryland before the Ukrainians came was "almost to get some help or give up farming."

Saw Two Invasions

John Shchepakiwsky, formerly a store owner in Lviv, Ukraine, and now living at Mr. Bishop's home, where he is employed, was also a speaker.

"I am the first of the displaced persons to come to Adams county, and one of 250,000 displaced persons in Germany," he said. "My people saw two invasions. All these people lost their country, their own people and their homes. All they want is to get to a democratic country and work and earn.

"I came here in February, and I like it very much. I am very thankful to the Bishop family for their understanding. I want to help my people still in Germany and if you need help, sign an application and bring some of my people here. I am sure that you will be satisfied."

The Adams county committee named at Friday night's meeting will assist in the filling out of applications, explain to all interested persons the steps necessary to be taken, and will aid Ukrainians who may come to Adams county to "find themselves" in their new environments. Mr. Bishop acted as chairman of the meeting.

Donald Reaver, West King street extended, Littlestown, reported to state police this morning that he was driving a pick-up truck on the road between Littlestown and Harney, and a car made a left turn in front of him. No report was available on details of the accident at press time.

TAFT WOULD CUT SPENDING

Washington, April 2 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) offered his proposed $3,000,000,000 slash in federal spending Friday as the answer to President Truman's argument that a federal deficit would hurt more than a tax boost.

Taft, who heads the Senate GOP policy committee, commented:

"If we can cut 10 per cent out of most of these appropriation bills that are coming along we can save $3,000,000,000 and have a comfortable surplus of more than $2,000,000,000 to apply on the debt."

Mr. Truman has predicted that the government will run $873,000,000 in the red in the year beginning next July 1, unless taxes are increased. His warning that such a deficit would do more damage than higher taxes came at his news conference yesterday.

But Taft contended this would be only a "book deficit." To put on new taxes in a time of falling prices

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, April 2 (AP)—That long grapevine from Florida carries the word that Joe McCarthy has scored on Walt Dropo as the Red Sox first baseman and that Billy Goodman will be back on first come opening day.

Dropo, it seems, can't hit a curve. As Al Schacht says, who can? South Africa's Bobby Locke has an opportunity to become the first foreign golfer to win the U.S. open championship since England's Ted Ray nosed out his compatriot Harry Vardon in 1929.

Best effort among since then was Phil Perkins' tie for second, three strokes behind Gene Sarazen, in 1932.

Mike Pavlak, sophomore candidate for third base on the Syracuse U. Baseball team, has a straight "A" scholastic average. Coach Ted Kleinhaus only hopes Mike can hit the ball as well as he hits the books.

STORM WARNING

Sterling Durree, U. of Florida

backfield coach, hung the tag of "lightning and thunder" on half-backs Charlie Hunsinger and John Cox because of Charlie's speed and John's line-busting power.

First time Head Coach Bear Wolf heard it, he commented: "Yeah, we got thunder and lightning, all right. I just hope it don't cloud up and rain." To which tub-thumper Joe Sherman adds: "You can always depend on a football coach to see the dark cloud behind every silver lining."

SPORTSPOURRI

Samuel Hopkins Adams, the author, argues that his home town of Auburn, N. Y., has as good a claim as nearby Cooperstown that it is where baseball originated. At least Auburn folks can show you a picture of a neatly-uniformed team taken in 1867.

Fred Hooper's flying horses, Olympia and Ocean Drive, will fly as usual to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby. A plane already has been engaged for the trip from New York late this month.

Andy Cowley starts his 35th year as Columbia baseball coach today with the Lions' opening game against Manhattan.

The American Hockey league has an unusual but perfectly reasonable way of making its "most gentlemanly player" award. It lets the referees decide.

Pop Werner, Kansas U. line coach, owns a collection of 30 pipes. That doesn't include those lead pipes linemen often are accused of carrying.

Training Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

Birmingham, Ala., April 2 (AP)—Ken Trinkle, righthander acquired from the New York Giants, is making a valiant bid for a starting pitching assignment with the Philadelphia Phillies. The Phils broke camp yesterday, play Birmingham tonight on the first leg of a two-week trip northward. Trinkle said he'd like to be a starter but would settle for a relief role.

"I want to do what will be of most value to the club," Trinkle said.

Orlando, Fla., April 2 (AP)—Connie Mack sought more consistency at the plate today as his Philadelphia Athletics opened a two-game series with the Washington Senators. Although the A's have won four of their last five games, Mack is far from satisfied with his team's hitting. The A's took a 10-4 lacing from the Kansas City Blues at Lake Wales yesterday.

Tucson, Ariz., April 2 (AP)—Manager Billy Meyer of the Pittsburgh Pirates, kept an eye on the weatherman's predictions today—hopeful the Bucs would be able to play their scheduled exhibition with the Cleveland Indians. The Bucs have been rained out of four of their last 10 spring training contests and Meyer said he's afraid some of the team may go stale if the bad weather continues.

Today's bloodhound is believed to be descended from a hound brought across the Channel by the Normans in the 11th century.

Contrary to their reputation, most blood hounds are docile and affectionate animals.

'KID' GAVILAN GETS DECISION OVER WILLIAMS

New York, April 2 (AP)—A better and faster Kid Gavilan was gunning for welterweight Champion Ray Robinson today.

And there's a good chance that the Cuban flash soon may be matched to meet Sugar Ray for the title in Yankee Stadium this summer.

Robinson was a deeply interested spectator last night when Gavilan, a 9 to 5 underdog, won a ten-round, non-title decision over Lightweight Champion Ike Williams in Madison Square Garden. The unanimous verdict made it two straight for the Kid over the Trenton, N. J., negro.

Capacity Crowd

As soon as the rip-roaring battle was over, Robinson told Harry Markson, managing director of the 26th Century S. C., "Harry, I'll fight Gavilan for you."

Markson, however, knows full well that getting Sugar Ray to sign a contract and carry it out is a lot different than a nice oral go-ahead.

The 147-pound champ is a fast talker but a slow signer.

Nevertheless Markson has hopes that Robinson means business this time. They'll confer Monday.

For one thing, the welter boss saw plenty of boxoffice business last night. A capacity crowd of 18,201 paid $95,865, biggest gate of the indoor season, to see the "rubber" bout of a thrilling series. Williams copped the first bout 13 months ago.

For another, Ray is having plenty of heat put on him to risk the crown he last defended against Bernie Docusen, June 28.

Gavilan's first words in his dressing room were "Get me Robinson."

The Havana contender, sported a 9½ pound bulge in the weights—146 to 136½. The weight difference was too much for Williams to overcome.

The officials gave Gavilan a good edge—6-3-1, 6-3-1, and 7-2-1. The AP scorecard had the Cuban ahead, 6-4.

LOPAT WORKS ON KNUCKLE BALL

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 2 (AP)—Ed Lopat, chunky New York Yankee southpaw, is following Gene Bearden's example by adding a knuckle ball to his repertoire.

Bearden was just another pitcher in the Yankee farm system until Casey Stengel taught him the knuckle at Oakland in 1946-47. Last year as a rookie he was a 20-game winner and World Series hero for Cleveland.

Lopat doesn't expect such startling results. With him, it's more of an experiment.

"I don't know whether I'll use it in a regular game," said Lopat. "But it worked pretty good down here."

"You have to be sure about two things with a knuckle. First, the ball has to do something. No maybe about it. If it doesn't flutter, you're dishing up a nothing ball. Second, you have to get it over. The best knuckler in the world is just junk, if it isn't over the plate."

Lopat threw the knuckler at Dick Wakefield the other afternoon in an exhibition game. The Detroit left fielder was so surprised that he let it sail past for a called third strike.

SENATOR APPEALS FINE, SENTENCE

Birmingham, Ala., April 1 (AP)—A circuit court jury pleased just about everybody concerned when it convicted Sen. Glen H. Taylor (D-Idaho) of disorderly conduct last night.

The jury fined Taylor $50 and sentenced him to 180 days in jail. "That's fine," said Taylor. He added that the verdict gives him a chance to test the case in higher courts through appeal. His appeal was filed immediately.

City attorneys and Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor agreed with the senator that the verdict was fine.

Taylor, then a candidate for vice president on the ticket with Henry Wallace, was arrested by city police May 1. He had attempted to enter a door reserved for negroes at a meeting of the Southern Negro Youth Congress.

His police court trial May 4 resulted in a fine of $50 and a sentence of 180 days. The jail sentence was suspended. The circuit court trial was on appeal from that conviction.

Umpires' Meeting Tuesday Evening

The Adams County Umpires association will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the American Legion home on Baltimore street.

President Francis Keffer will issue instructions submitted to him by presidents of the Adams County, South Penn and Penn-Maryland Baseball leagues in which members of the association will officiate this season.

The organization now has 22 members and will soon close its membership role. Anyone interested in joining should attend the meeting Tuesday.

Sport Shorts

Fort Worth, Tex., April 2 (AP)—Ben Hogan says golf is the farthest thing from his mind—but is it? The fragile champ of the links, now on the mend after an automobile accident that almost took his life, came back home to Fort Worth yesterday.

"Golf is the farthest thing from my mind right now," he said in an interview. "All I want to do is get well. I'm putting my mind on that."

Beaver Falls, Pa., April 2 (AP)

Play in the national American Legion basketball tournament reached the semi-finals today with the favored Kankakee, Ill., five still in the running. Kankakee had a tough time defeating Portsmouth, Ohio, 49-46 last night. The game was tied up 13 times. Other semi-finalists are Richmond, Ky., Greenwood, Ind., and McPherson, Kans.

Clefield, Pa., April 2 (AP)—Three teams dominated action today in the semi-finals of the national Junior AAU wrestling championships. Clearfield Kiwanis club led the way by placing six men, while Michigan State and Cleveland (O.)

YMCA each played five. Opening competition last night was centered in nine weight divisions. Only the heavyweights saw no action with four contestants drawing bytes into the semi-final round.

York, Pa., April 2 (AP)—Unbeaten Aliquippa high tangles with twice-ticked York on the basketball court tonight—and the winner goes home with the PIAA title.

Neither Aliquippa, victor in 23 tilts this season, nor York ever held the honor.

A western school hasn't won since 1944 when Duquesne turned the trick.

York reached the final round by winning the eastern PIAA crown with a 43-36 victory over Radnor. The Whites Roses, however, lost twice in season play—to Coatesville and Reading—while winning 27 other games.

Scene of the championship play-off is Philadelphia's Convention Hall. A crowd of more than $900 is expected.

Aliquippa won the western PIAA crown with a sharp 57-48 triumph over Sharpsville.

The Quipmen have a high-scoring quintet. The westerners have rolled up 1,841 points in the 28 games.

York, fair marksmen especially sharp on the defense, tallied only 810 points in its 29 contests—half of Aliquippa's scoring total.

The White Roses will field virtually the same team that bowed to Norristown in last year's eastern PIAA finals.

Les Brown, a good ball handler, is the key in the York attack. The rest of the White Rose aggregation—Ronald Simmons, Gerald Stine, Bill Johnson and Dave Ritter—take the cue from Brown.

Thus for York it'll probably be how Brown goes so goes York.

Aliquippa hinges its hopes on Clarence Shaw, Joe Richards, Mickey Zernich, Jim Frank and Jerry Montini. This was the crew that battled to easy victory in the WPIAL district seven eliminations.

In one day, 175,000 gallons of gasoline are consumed at LaGuardia Field.

GOOD HUNTING

A fine book for anyone to read who is interested in nature—and we all ought to be—is the one by John Kieran which he called "Footnotes to Nature." I took it from its shelf in my library to read again, as this new Springtime stirs itself. In it he tells of how he always used to carry his gun with him on his tramps and adventures in the open. But soon he discarded that gun and only took his camera and notebook. I don't see how anyone who loves birds can kill them. They are such glorious fascinating creatures. Their habits and way of life are so stimulating to anyone who will give time and observation to them. And it is so easy to make friends with them. About one's home, they are so appreciative of food thrown to them, and many return year after year to the houses placed for them.

Nothing is so thrilling as to get good pictures of the many varieties of birds or animals with a good camera. Among the most beautiful and absorbing books published today are those by Edwin Way Teale, for he hunts with his cameras, and all through his books are wonderful pictures that he has taken of birds, insects, and animals. He is a master at this best of all hunting—Good Hunting, with his cameras. I look forward to his book on the migrating of birds, on which he has been working for some time.

Naturalists often spend hours in one place just to get one new piece of information about the habits of a bird. And many rig up their camera to get a particular picture. I recently noted the picture of a man high up in a tree, in a most dangerous position, but ready for the picture that he hoped to get of an eagle's nest.

I have one beautiful book just upon the flight of birds. It takes a "good" camera and an expert to shoot such scenes. But how greatly I such pictures pay out! For years I have studied the red squirrels about my Summer place in Nova Scotia, and have photographed these interesting creatures in fur in all their actions. I talk to them, as well, and I would give more than one penny for their thoughts! Good hunting to you who hunt with your camera.

THE LOST CHANCES

He thought he wanted money, so his every day was planned
To buy and sell for profit, but he couldn't understand,
When he grew to be a rich man, why his wealth so little meant.
He had all a fortune offers, but he still was not content.

He had faithful been to business and the code of business men.
In their way he had succeeded, but he wondered, now and then,
If his friends in humbler places who had served, without a fee,
The needy and the helpless, were not happier than he.

He remembered many chances he had coldly brushed aside,
Which if only he had taken had enriched his life with pride.
But "too busy," he had answered; and too late, at last, he learned
There is something more than money in a lifetime to be earned.

RED PROTEST OF ATLANTIC PACT TO BE IGNORED

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

If Russia is right in protesting the North Atlantic Pact as an offensive instrument, then we—the people—of the signatory countries are being bunched by our governments.

We are assured that the alliance is purely defensive. It is designed to act as a deterrent to any nation which might have aggressive ideas. In that sense it is an instrument of peace.

A lot of us believe that. Unity and preparedness among peace-loving nations is the only "peace pact" worth the paper it is written on. Might doesn't necessarily make right, but it wields an impressive authority.

Bomb Scares Reds
Winston Churchill said in his Boston speech Thursday night that western Europe would have been Communized and London would have been bombed before this but for the deterrent of the atomic bomb in American control. That's an assumption which of course might be hard to prove. However, if Russia did have aggressive designs it's highly probable that the atom bomb would restrain her. It would restrain any nation in its right mind.

This power-packed peace alliance doesn't alter the unhappy picture of a Europe divided against itself. It only means that the western allies are pooling their resources and getting organized defensively for contingencies. It means that they are establishing a defensive front-line running from northern Norway down through central Germany to southern Italy. That's a line which aggression must not cross. Meantime the "cold" war will go on.

Observers in Washington understand that rejection of the Russian protest against the alliance is a foregone conclusion. The only question is what the form of rejection will be.

LANIER, MARTIN LOSE ONE ROUND

New York, April 2 (AP)—It is unlikely that Max Lanier and Fred Martin will return to organized baseball this year.

The two former St. Louis Cardinal pitchers, suspended for jumping to the Mexican league in 1946, failed in their first bid for a legal shortcut into the good graces of the national pastime.

Federal District Judge Edward A. Conger yesterday denied their request for a temporary injunction to stop baseball from keeping them on the ineligible list. Their suspensions normally would expire in 1951.

The judge gave a number of reasons for his decision. Among them, he said, was a serious question whether his court had jurisdiction in the matter. Furthermore, Judge Conger declared, granting the players' application would give them immediately the relief they might win after trial.

Lanier and Martin have a $2,500,000 damage suit pending against baseball, brought under the anti-trust laws. It also seeks a permanent injunction against the suspension. Judge Conger said the denial of the temporary injunction has no bearing on the merits of the damage suit.

John L. Flynn, attorney for the players, said he would ask the U. S. Court of Appeals Monday for an immediate hearing on a plea for reversal of Judge Conger's ruling.

Employers requiring assistance in preparing or filing quarterly reports or who wish to discuss unemployment compensation matters were invited by Heikes to take advantage of the facilities offered by the new office established here this week.

The local office is located at 20 Baltimore street in the Pennsylvania State Employment Service offices. Previously, county unemployment compensation tax matters were administered through the York office. Heikes said that he will be in his office here between hours of 8:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. daily except Saturday.

Why Blame The Choke?

If there is one thing about modern engines that has been unfairly singled out for criticism it is the automatic choke. Somehow, motorists seem to forget that long before automatic control was devised the choke was giving trouble. It is largely this same trouble that is now pinned on the automatic control. Sticking of the choke shaft is on the factor. It can be caused by corrosion or merely by cramping of the carburetor air intake through over-tightening the air cleaner. Even attaching the cleaner at an angle will cramp the air horn which contains the choke. No automatic control for chokes is sufficiently strong to overcome such resistance. Also handicapping this control is bending of the choke control rod or any other mechanism needed to operate the choke.

Just Loose Lining

The subject has been aired before but now one of the faithful who digests this column tells me that he found a loose length of brake lining as the reason why one of the car's front wheels so often locked and pulled the car in its direction. Being resourceful he removed the lining and riveted it anew. That did the trick. All the while he had been suspecting a warped drum.

Meet "Friction Lag"

When your car fails to ride like it used to the chances are that there has developed a lot of what engineers term friction lag. One way to measure this on your car is to note the distance between the rear bumper and the garage floor. Then push the car down at the rear end and let it return to normal position. Now measure the distance between the bumper and floor again and see if it is less than before. If so, the spring suspension system binds and the car simply won't ride well that way. Do the same at the front of the car, and of course repeat the performance several times to make sure that you didn't make a mistake. If there is measurable friction lag, better consult a good mechanic so that he can do some checking of shackles, spring and shock absorbers.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"One thing that seldom pays off for motorists is to compare repair charges, for this fails to take into account the difference in the design and construction of the cars involved. It's a lot easier to take off

New K-F "Traveler" Is Two Cars In One

SOMETHING NEW in the automobile industry is the "Traveler," a lower-priced '49 multi-purpose sedan being introduced by Kaiser-Frazer dealers. To all appearances it is a conventional four-door model. But the rear seat cushions fold away and the entire back opens to provide access to more than 130 cubic feet of cargo space. When not in use as a carry-all, the "Traveler" is a deluxe, six-passenger family sedan. The cutaway-view shows how the seat cushions and hinged rear panels function.

the head of one six cylinder motor than that of another, and many a car these days can't have a tappet adjustment without removing a front wheel.

"Just the other day a chap complained because I had charged him double what a friend of his had paid to have the parking brake re-lined. My customer did not realize that his car has the hand brake hooked up to the two rear service brakes. That meant two sets of brake shoes to be re-lined, plus the work of removing wheels. His friend's hand brake operates on the propeller shaft just behind the transmission. It's simple and accessible.

Picture In Reverse

We hear so much about the penalties for driving the car with under-inflated tires it may be a bit of a diversion to mention a few of the pitfalls in overinflation. Obviously, of course, is the strain on the car's body and its equipment due to transmission of road shocks, but did you know that overinflation results in the tire being more susceptible to bruising directly under the tread? Also if you regularly go overboard on air there's a good chance that the rear tires will wear spotty. What happens is that the rear wheels dance more. There is uneven traction, and thus uneven tread wear. Moreover all four tires will tend to wear more at the center of their treads, robbing them of their best anti-skid protection.

Is That Belt Squealing?

Most squealing fan belts can be silenced in one of several ways, but don't do anything while the fan is operating. First of all make sure the belt isn't loose and slipping. Then try the simple plan of roughing up its glazed edges with the side of the end of a screwdriver. If this fails, you might apply a little powdered graphite to the belt. Don't, however, use oil or brake fluid on the belt or the pulley.

Longer Life For Top

Popularity of convertibles has once again raised the question as to how to protect the material used for these soft tops. The notion still persists that there is some magic solution which can be painted on such tops to end all worries. Actually these tops give amazing service if just treated to a few simple rules. There they are:

Use care when putting the top down and do not do so when the material is wet or even damp. Do not leave the top down for more than a few days at a time. Under no conditions use cleaners or a stiff brush. A hat brush is excellent for preventing dust and dirt from getting imbedded in the fabric, and if the top is very dirty wash it with luke-warm water and a mild soap.

Thoughts In Traffic

In one of those situations where fast stops are the rule it pays to give the fellow behind an advance warning rather than to wait until you are actually in the process of coming to a halt. Dab the brake pedal a bit ahead of schedule so as to flash the stoplights.

Poor shifting from low to second where you are not hurrying may be due to too slow idling, especially if the engine is cold.

The ammeter tells you whether or not the stop-lights are working. In recording the extra discharge its pointer naturally moves a little further toward discharge.

Toward Better Braking

Brakes need warming up, the same as the engine. Use them freely for the first mile of driving so that they are well equalized. This is a "must" if you are faced with the possibility of skidding. During the initial warm-up apply the brakes lightly while the car is pulling in second gear. Don't overdo the idea. It is like fast idling the engine to help warm it up in cold weather. The instruction book warns against racing. Moderation in all things.

In The Motor Mail

Q What would make my car shake and vibrate excessively after coming to a normal stop from moderate speed? It will do this for about 30 seconds and then begin to work normally. J. N. M.

A This is plain evidence of sticky valves. Use some valve oil in with the crankcase oil.

Q There is a peculiar growling in the rear of my car. Some tell me that it may be due to a rough front tire but there doesn't seem to be any change in the tone of the noise when I go over different kinds of roadway. L. L. P.

K-F PRESENTS "TRAVELER" AS 2-IN-ONE CAR

The Kaiser-Frazer Corp. is introducing a new lower-priced six-passenger automobile which combines the carry-all features of a station wagon with the comforts and appearance of a de luxe four-door sedan.

Adams county distributors are the Haller Motor company, Gettysburg, Hiner's garage, Fairfield and Schei-vert's garage, Littlestown.

Identified as the Traveler, the model is one of two 1949 Kaiser "utility" models designed for the one-car family which needs supplemental transportation for business or recreational use.

No Sacrifice Of Comfort

It is priced below standard sized station wagons and most conventional sedans in the 123½-inch wheelbase class. The Vagabond, a luxury companion model styled for the "estate wagon" field, is scheduled for production later in the spring.

The multi-purpose adaptability of the utility models is gained from two major functional design features without sacrifice of six-passenger comfort and four-door sedan styling.

One feature is an improved collapsible seat arrangement which allows the rear passenger cushions to be folded away in 10 seconds to convert the car for cargo hauling.

The other feature is the design of the rear of the car. Instead of the single trunk lid the Traveler has two large hinged panels which enable the owner to open the entire back of the sedan from floor to roof.

The lower section drops downward to provide a tailgate. The second panel, which includes the broad rear window, is hinged from the roof and opens upward. With both panels open and seat cushions folded, a spacious cargo area of 130 cubic feet is accessible for easy loading.

When the back seat is in upright position, the cars seat six passengers comfortably, and still provide much greater cargo space than is available in the largest of four-door sedan trucks.

With a wheelbase of 123½-inches, both utility cars are equipped with heavy duty front and rear springs and heavy duty shock absorbers. The Traveler is powered by the economical six-cylinder, 100-horsepower engine used in the Kaiser Special sedan.

On Murder's Skirts

By Terry Adler

Chapter 14

Ellen opened the door of her apartment. She was wearing a very soft woolen dress which clung to her like the figure in the right places.

Raff just stood there looking at her.

"Hello. Come in. I was just getting my hat."

"It's miraculous."

"Is it?"

"To think I've finally met a woman who was ready on time. I repeat miraculous."

"It's really very simple. It's all done with mirrors."

The drive to the restaurant was a short one. Once there, they had no difficulty getting a table and sat down quickly.

"Let me ask you some questions, Ellen."

"Ready, Doctor."

"Seriously, Ellen, can you remember anything about the day before yesterday—Wednesday, that is?"

"Sure. What do you want to know?"

He said, "I have a reason for asking. Just tell me how much you remember."

"Well, let me see. Dr. Hubbard didn't get in until about a quarter after one in the afternoon. He usually didn't come in on Wednesday mornings at all, because that's the time the cleaning women are in there. Well, after he came in we went over some stencils together."

"What time was that?"

"About a quarter of two."

"Was that when Hubbard lay down for his nap?"

"No, usually that wouldn't be until two or two-fifteen."

"You're sure Hubbard did take a nap that day?"

"Oh, yes." She was emphatic.

"That was the whole trouble. It was because they woke him up that he was in such a fierce temper."

"Was he a sound sleeper?"

"Yes. Very. Usually I would be typing away and the noise never bothered him."

Raff was thinking. Why had Bray assumed that Hubbard had received a fatal dose of phosgene at two-thirty in the afternoon?

He asked Ellen: "Then you're reasonably certain that at two-thirty on Wednesday afternoon, Hubbard was fast asleep?"

He watched her reaction to the mention of the specific time.

"Well, yes." She was very perplexed. "I don't understand this interest in Dr. Hubbard. Is that tied up with what happened to Dr. Bray?"

"I don't know. If it is, then I know why Bray was murdered."

"You do?" She was incredulous.

"Maybe I don't know. Maybe Bray was talking through his hat. Maybe not. And if he really wasn't, then that's why he was killed."

"Will you please make sense?" She was thoroughly exasperated.

"What is all this about Dr. Bray being murdered because he wasn't talking through his hat?"

"Well, it has to do with a telephone conversation I had with Bray last night after we finished the autopsy."

"You see," he went on, "Hubbard didn't die of coronary occlusion, or heart attack as it is called. Hubbard was gassed — with phosgene, a poison gas."

"But the paper said — the doctor even said it was a heart attack."

"That's what it looked like at first."

"But how can you mistake it? I mean, aren't you all covered with blisters when you get gassed?"

"That's mustard gas or Lewisite. With phosgene only the lungs and nasal passages are affected. They become filled with fluid — edema, we call it — and the victim literally drowns. The point is that after some types of coronary occlusion also, edema sets in. That's why Dr. Norton diagnosed it as a heart attack at first. But when we actually did an autopsy we knew it wasn't a heart attack, and we were reasonably sure it was phosgene. We decided to call the Biology department back to my office, and I was so furious and so incensed that I went right in to Hubbard and told him I was resigning. I told you all about that this morning."

"Yes. Well, to get back to early that afternoon—you say Fenton was in Hubbard's office when you left for the mimeograph office. Where was Bray then?"

"He was in his own office with Bill Griffith. They were going over some of the things Bill wanted to review before the exam."

"Of course, we have no way of knowing whether they spent all the time before the exam together," he said.

"We can ask Bill."

"Sure, we can ask Bill. But if Bill is the culprit we won't be any nearer the truth than we are now."

"Oh, no. Not Bill. He wouldn't. He's so nice, he couldn't do a thing like that." She was pained at the thought.

"My dear child, everybody in this case is 'so nice,' as you call it. And yet one of those 'so nice' people murdered one man and possibly two."

Ellen put her hand on his arm and her eyes widened as if she were struck with a sudden thought.

"Do you know what I just thought of?"

"No—what?" He put his hand over hers. She made no effort to disengage hers.

"Look," she said excitedly, "if someone did use this poison gas on Dr. Hubbard, wouldn't he, too, show some signs of it? I mean, if two people were there, why would only one die?"

He regarded her thoughtfully.

"You know, you have something there. Unless he wore a gas mask—but that's impossible. A civilian wouldn't have one. Of course, if he held his breath—but even so, even if he held his breath most of the time, he would show some signs of contact. Tell me, did anyone come down with what looked like a cold suddenly yesterday?"

She started to shake her head and then stopped, staring, unbelieving, raised her eyes and looked at Raff helplessly.

"Who is it?"

She swallowed hard before she spoke. "Paul—Paul has a cold."

"Who's Paul?"

"Paul Russell. He's a graduate fellow here. He's getting his Ph.D. in June."

"When did he get his cold?"

"Wednesday afternoon," he said. He hadn't been in the lab since Wednesday morning. He called up yesterday to tell me that he had a cold and was going to stay in bed."

"Yesterday—that was Thursday. Did you tell him about Hubbard dying?"

"Yes, I told him."

"What did he say?"

A slight shudder went through her. When she spoke it was with great deliberation.

"He said, 'Well! That's the best news I've heard in a long time.'"

"Very interesting. Very interesting indeed," he commented. "What were his relations with Hubbard?"

"They've been fine for the past year, I'd say."

"What do you mean 'for the past year'? How about before that?"

"When I first came here over three years ago, he and I used to go around a bit together. Then after a while I decided not to go with him any more. He drinks too much, and when he's drunk he acts like a spoiled brat."

"What did Hubbard have to do with this?"

"Well, about the time I decided to call it quits, Dr. Hubbard gave Paul an ultimatum. He said it would be future policy within the department for the junior staff members to avoid after hours social contact with other staff members."

"Paul was just boiling mad about this. And was pretty insolent to Dr. Hubbard, too. He was the only one around there who ever did talk back to the chief."

"Finally, Paul got himself another girl, several, in fact, and quit bothering me. From then on everything was fine between him and Dr. Hubbard."

Raff picked up the checks.

"Come on," he said shortly; "we're going to pay friend Paul a visit."

(To be continued)

20-YEAR-OLD BOOK CITED BY AUTHOR - SOLON

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, April 2 (AP)—In the midst of a Senate debate a question arose about a book, "Lessons of the Last Decade," written 20 years ago by Paul H. Douglas, now Democratic senator from Illinois.

To be sure it was quoted in the past, he wanted it quoted, Douglas, serving this first year in the Senate, got up and read some of the book himself.

What Douglas read was his philosophy on the difference between the long-run benefits of democracy and the long-run dangers of communism.

Douglas, 57, and a well-known economist, believes that a good society is best reached by peaceful means and that communism, achieved by conspiracy and violence, ends in tyranny and degeneracy of government.

Reds Expect Revolt

He stated his position—which is the position of democratic thinkers of the West—so clearly, that some of what he said is given here:

"Even if the Communists were to seize power, their work of government would inevitably be poisoned by the methods used in attaining it."

"Their opponents would naturally be driven to resort to that same method of violent revolution which the Communists had embraced."

"The Communists would, therefore, need constantly to be on their guard against an armed uprising led by those who had enjoyed greater economic and social privileges under the former regime."

"They would, moreover, suspect such revolts even when not planned and the inevitable result would be the permeation of society by a state system of espionage and the ruthless use of terror as a means of intimidation."

Democratic Way

Then, shifting to the problem of leadership in a democracy, Douglas said:

"The knowledge that they must secure popular support makes leaders more solicitous than they otherwise would be to further the real interests of those upon whose approval their continuance in office depends."

"For these reasons, the democratic way of life is ultimately the best method of obtaining good government while, as John Stuart Mill long ago pointed out, it is also the most effective means of raising the level of civic intelligence."

Car Dealer Robbed On Way To Bank

Philadelphia, April 2 (AP)—A used car dealer driving to a bank to make a night deposit was forced to the curb and robbed of $5,500 Thursday night.

Sydney Greer, operator of a used car lot in north Philadelphia, told police a lone man in another car forced Greer's automobile to the side of the street and then climbed in beside his victim.

Keeping a hand in his overcoat pocket as though holding a gun, the man ordered Greer to turn over a leather bag containing the money—representing the receipts from car sales.

Greer said the man also took his wallet containing $40 before fleeing.

RENT CEILINGS LIFTED TODAY IN FOUR STATES

Washington, April 2 (AP)—Rent ceilings were lifted today on 36,500 dwelling units in four states.

Housing Expediter Tighe Woods said more than 80 other areas in 23 states will be decontrolled within a week.

Woods accompanied the removal of restrictions with a sharp warning that ceilings will be slapped on again if "an unreasonable increase" in rents results from the moves.

Twenty areas in Alabama, Indiana, New Jersey and Texas are affected by the initial decontrols.

The move resulted from a provision of the new rent control act which empowers Woods to remove ceilings anywhere in the nation but to put them back on if unusual rent boosts result.

To Police Rents

The housing director made it clear that his agency will continue to police rents in decontrolled areas. He said local advisory boards have been told to stay in existence and keep intact the machinery to enforce new ceilings "should the need arise."

Information now available, Woods asserted, is "inconclusive as to whether the demand for rental housing has been reasonably met" in the areas involved in the present series of actions.

He left little doubt that he will order new ceilings should rent gouging follow the decontrol action.

The statement announcing the ending of restrictions called it a decision to "take a chance" on lifting controls now that the agency has power to replace them.

Today's action does away with ceilings on 30,100 dwelling units in eight localities in Texas; 4,550 units in six areas of Indiana; 1,800 units in one Alabama county; and 150 units in five New Jersey townships.

SEEK POISONED FEED

Harrisburg, April 2 (AP)—The state Agriculture Department today directed all food agents to be on the lookout for a poisonous ground charcoal that is being sold for mixing in poultry feed. The department said it has killed "a considerable number" of chickens in another state and is caused by the use of war surplus charcoal originally intended for gas mask cannisters.

Riding With Russell

ent kinds of paving. This eliminates the possibility of noise from a tire. My belief is that you have a bad rear wheel bearing.

Q. My car is sluggish on hills and has no pick-up. I notice, however, that if I pull out the choke a bit everything seems to be normal again. Do you think the fuel pump needs replacing? Wm. L.

A. If the fuel pump were involved in this you could not get any better results using the choke. No, the trouble lies in the high speed carburetion system. You probably have a clogged jet.

Q. I am worried over the fact that gasoline occasionally runs out of a tube that is connected to the intake manifold near the carburetor. How can I stop this? N. L. L.

A. Let this gasoline drain off. It is just excess fuel that condenses in the manifold. The drain tube was put there for this purpose.

Q. I have removed the nuts from the studs of the head of my car but the head still refuses to come loose. I have used penetrating oil on the studs. What next? F. L. R.

A. Crank over the motor a few times. Compression will often be sufficient to push the head loose.

Q. When I use the high beam of the lights on my car I do not get a good view of the road. Is there any possibility that the sealed beam lamps are installed incorrectly? S. W. R.

A. No, but the headlights themselves are out of focus. Better go to a shop that has suitable equipment for readjusting and properly aiming the lamps.

Q. There is a rattle in the front left side of my car when I start up in the morning. After awhile it disappears. Could it be a shock absorber? W. G.

A. Yes. This particular shock may need fluid. After it is in action awhile it heats, builds up air pressure and thus operates more quietly.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern Street, West Hartford, 7, Connecticut, and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

CRUSHED BY TRUCK

Columbia, Pa., April 2 (AP)—Ira A. McGonigal, 33, of Manheim, Pa., died in an ambulance en route to Columbia hospital. He was crushed beneath a ten-ton dump truck which overturned down a 23-foot embankment at a slag pile near Columbia yesterday. McGonigal was employed by a Lancaster contractor.

The Madri Gras parade has been staged in New Orleans since 1838.

STASSEN ASKS AID PLAN FOR CHINA, ASIA

Boston, April 2 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said last night that this nation should move against Communism by "bolstering" southern China and all of Asia with a billion-dollar-a-year "MacArthur plan."

Such a move, patterned after the Marshall plan, is needed, he said, to make up for "inaction or withdrawal of aid" which "contributes to the Communist domination of China."

The 42-year-old University of Pennsylvania president shared platform honors with Winston Churchill at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology convocation of top scientists and thinkers at Boston Garden.

"We should move, and move promptly," Stassen said, "to bolster the southern half of China."

Stalin, Hitler, Alke
Stassen and the entire philosophy of Communism were attacked by the speaker who said he saw little difference between the "fuehrer principle of Hitler's system and the 'centralism of Stalin's."

The "MacArthur plan" was brought up after Stassen declared: "Clearly the Marshall plan in Europe has been the most significant single right thing we have done since the end of the war."

"It is high time that we have a parallel MacArthur plan in Asia," he said. The new idea, he said, would be "not a program for Japan, a program for China, for Burma but an Asia-wide program."

He described it in this way: "Giving due consideration to European needs and to our own total economic situation and capacity, we should regularly invest a portion of our resources in Asia for the resistance to Communism."

Billion A Year
"The amount should be a minimum of a billion dollars a year."

"It should be administered on an Asia-wide approach, preferably in relation to local provinces and individual projects and in underwriting private endeavor, rather than being funneled through any central, major government." It should have "the same concept of objectives and requirement of self-help as the Marshall plan."

Stassen, who appeared as a replacement for President Truman on the program, described Soviet Russia's Communist leaders as being restrained only by "their appraisal of relative force."

Swiss Bell Ringers To Give Concert

The Rev. and Mrs. Bernard Mason, widely known as the Swiss bell ringers, of Los Angeles, will present a sacred concert at the Gettysburg Methodist church Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock. The program will consist of familiar hymns and gospel songs played on a large array of musical instruments rarely heard on the entertainment platform. The instruments will include Swiss hand bells, musical glasses, singing saw, golden vibraphone, triple octave chimes and the "Victor theremin," described as an instrument of mystery. It has no keyboard, strings, reeds or pipes and responds to motions of the player's hands waving over it in space. A freewill offering will be received.

BIG CYCLOTRON REACHES GOAL

Saxonburg, Pa., April 2 (AP)—Car-negie Tech's 90-ton cyclotron coils have at last arrived at the school's nuclear research center here. But Tech officials aren't convinced that "the longest way round is the shortest way home."

Tech originally wanted to send the massive coils for its atom smasher overland from the Brooklyn Navy Yards. It was less than 400 miles.

"No, no," said the Pennsylvania Highway department last January. "They'll smash our roads and bridges."

So the coils were shipped by barge down the Atlantic coast and up the Mississippi. At Huntington, W. Va., they were held up a week or two by a barge workers' strike.

At Kittanning, Pa., on the Allegheny River, they were ready to unload. A union threatened to halt the work because non-union men were used on the job. The U. S. Army, which controls the docks, wanted a bond to insure against damage. Hydraulic jacks had to be brought in for use, rather than cranes, for the unloading job. All of this took time.

Finally, the contractor got ready to unload them.

"No, no," again said the Pennsylvania Highway department. "They'll smash our roads and bridges." So the contractor put up $50,000 bond to cover any property damage caused by the trip.

Yesterday the hauling contractor loaded the coils on the trucks and began the 20-odd miles to Saxonburg. A state police escort went along. The procession moved at three miles an hour. The coils arrived undamaged. Likewise the roads and bridges.

35 Firemen Suffer Smoke Inhalation

Philadelphia, April 2 (AP)—Fire in a West Philadelphia pretzel factory early today injured two bakery employees and felled some 35 firemen who were treated for smoke inhalation.

Charles Zeitz, president of the bakery firm, estimated the damage at $500,000.

Firemen fought the blaze for four hours before it was brought under control.

The flames burst through the roof of the Hygrade Bakery company, 5635 Race street, and for a time threatened to ignite the adjoining factory-warehouse of Finnharen and Haley, Inc., paint makers.

Twenty-one employees, 11 of them women, were at work on both floors of the two-story bakery building when the fire was discovered. They escaped through back windows and dropped eight feet to the ground.

Two employees, Morris Broudy, 20, and Louis Brown were injured and treated at Misericordia hospital.

Bloodhounds have been known to follow a trail more than four days old.

Bloodhounds have been known to pursue a quarry 138 miles, even across water.

15-Year-Old Farm Wife Dies In Fire

State College, Pa., April 2 (AP)—A 15-year-old farm wife died in a kitchen fire today.

Coroner Charles Sheckler is investigating whether Mrs. George Horner burned to death or suffocated in a blaze which she said started when she poured kerosene to kindle a fire in the stove.

Her husband was in the barn at the time. The farm is located four miles west of State College.

TAFT PROPOSAL TO SLASH ERP FUNDS BEATEN

By JACK BELL

Washington, April 2 (AP)—A major victory under their belts, Senate leaders pushed today toward final approval for the $550,000,000 European recovery program.

While a pile of policy-changing amendments lay ahead, what was probably the biggest threat to the bill for a second-year Marshall plan was smashed last night. That was the proposal of Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and Russell (D-Ga.) to cut the cash outlays for foreign aid 10 per cent.

The Senate beat back the Taft-Russell amendment by a lopsided 54 to 23 vote. But because of the stack of amendments still awaiting action, there was a chance a final vote would be delayed until next week.

To Defeat Amendments
In any case, Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois said, all remaining amendments seemed sure to be defeated.

Lucas said he was surprised at the margin by which the economy move lost out, and added:

"The psychological effect throughout the world will be tremendous. The Communists can't use this for propaganda and they can't say we wretched on our promises to Europe."

Senator Byrd (D-Va.) told a reporter the vote probably seals off any efforts to cut the budget this year.

Wherry Plan Loses

He discounted the promise by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) that the appropriations committee will have a free hand to cut actual cash outlays on the aid bill.

Fourteen Republicans and nine Democrats voted to cut the authorization—which serves as a ceiling over later appropriations. Of the Democrats, all were southerners except Senator Gillette of Iowa. Voting against the Taft-Russell proposal were 35 Democrats and 15 Republicans.

Before the crucial test on that amendment, the Senate defeated on a 68 to 14 vote an amendment by Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, to lower the ceiling on the aid fund by 15 per cent. Taft and Russell both voted against this.

Girl On Highway Brushed To Death

Chambersburg, Pa., April 2 (AP)—A hit-run driver brushed a Shippensburg girl to her death near here early today.

State Police Sgt. C. F. Temke identified the girl as Lorraine McManus, about 19, and said her companion, Charles Wetzel, 20, Waynesboro, was seriously injured.
